China International Lead & Zinc Conference 2009

8-10 September, 2009
Lanzhou City, Gansu, China

Welcome

We are pleased to extend to you all a very cordial invitation to participate in the 12th China International Lead and Zinc Conference (12CILZC) to be held in Lanzhou, Gansu province, China, 8th-10th September 2009.

China International Lead and Zinc Conference, an annual event, is the largest gathering for world lead and zinc industry. A great number of industrial insiders both from China and abroad will attend the conference, and sit together and communicate with each other on the platform. The annual conference has become the windmark of Chinese lead and zinc industry development.

Under the struck of world wide economic crisis, around 80% lead and zinc mines and smelters in China had been cutting production or even suspend production from the fourth quarter 2008 to the first quarter this year. Meanwhile, most zinc smelters were operating in deficit. The factors resulted in the sharp fluctuation of global lead and zinc prices in the period.

Whether the situation will go on playing in 2009? Where will the world lead and zinc industry go? Whether the lead and zinc prices has touched bottom and begun to rise? These topics will be hotly discussed on the conference.

Being a key lead and zinc production base in China, Gansu enjoyed a rapid growth of its lead and zinc industry. The lead and zinc mining and smelting production plays important role in China. Baiyin Nonferrous Metals (Group) Co., Ltd. is a traditional lead-zinc-copper producing enterprise in China, which was established in 1954. After developing for some 50 years, the Baiyin Group has become an important lead and zinc supplier in the world lead and zinc industry. After introducing the strategic investor CITIC in 2008, the group obtained much stronger force in development.

Lanzhou, the capital city of Gansu, located in the central of the province, is well known as a vital transportation and communication hub in Western China. The city aroused accompany with The Silk Road, ancient trade route with over two thousand years history. The pioneer of silk-road Zhang Qian, the Monk Xuanzang of the Tang Dynasty and the Italian tourist Marco Polo leaved their trails in the ancient city.

We welcome you all to the 12CILZC in Lanzhou, Gansu, China on September 2009.
